● Dear friend,

As we draw this remarkable year to a close, I am deeply encouraged by the faithfulness of God and the resilience of the communities we serve across Kenya and beyond. This issue captures powerful stories of transformation, testimonies of lives changed, families restored, and hearts strengthened through the ministry of Trans World Radio Kenya and SIFA FM.

Our team continues to innovate, expand our reach, and deepen our impact through Christ-centered content and community engagement. From Marsabit to Voi, Kakuma to Garissa, your partnership ensures that hope continues to travel across hills, deserts, towns, and borders.

Thank you for journeying with us. Together, we will keep amplifying the message of truth to the unreached and the underserved, one broadcast at a time.

Waves of Hope: How Sifa FM is Lighting Up Hearts and Homes in Marsabit

Across the rugged hills and scattered manyattas of Marsabit County, where churches are scarce and distances stretch for miles, Sifa FM has become a lifeline of faith for countless families. Through a simple radio, women like Qabale Jarso, known fondly as Mama Kanisa have discovered a sanctuary in the Word of God broadcast each morning. Her story, along with many others, reveals how the Gospel is reaching the unreached, turning remote homes into places of worship, fellowship, and renewed hope.

John's Story of Survival: When Sound Doctrine Becomes a Shield Against Danger

Just two years after the horrific Shakahola tragedy shocked the nation, fresh mass graves have once again surfaced in nearby Kwa Bi Nzaro, yet in the midst of fear and deception, a quiet but powerful story of hope is unfolding.

Families in this vulnerable region are testifying that programs like "Neno Litaendelea" and "Jamvi La Gumzo" on SIFA FM have become their shield against false doctrines, guiding them into the truth of Scripture and literally saving lives.

In this newsletter, we bring you the compelling testimony of a listener whose faith, strengthened through Trans World Radio Kenya, helped him and his community stand firm while danger grew around them..

John's story is a powerful reminder that sound doctrine isn't just good teaching, it can save lives. In a place still haunted by the pain of Shakahola, the truth he hears through Neno Litaendelea and Jamvi La Gumzo has become his anchor, his protection, and his light. Where churches are few and cults prey on the desperate, radio becomes the only voice people can trust. John's testimony shows that when God's Word is clearly taught, it reaches the forgotten, strengthens the vulnerable, and guards families from deception.

This is why gospel radio matters, because sometimes one broadcast is the difference between truth and tragedy.
